this is one of the wisest books i ve read in years new york times book review no writer i know of comes close to even trying to articulate the weird magic of poetry as ruefle does she acknowledges and celebrates in the odd mystery and mysticism of the act the fact that poetry must both guard and reveal hint at and pull back also and maybe most crucially ruefle s work is never once stuffy or overdone she writes this stuff with a level of seriousness as play that s vital and welcome that doesn t make writing poetry sound anything but wild strange life enlargening fun the kenyon review profound unpredictable charming and outright funny these informal talks have far more staying power and verve than most of their kind readers may come away dazzled as well as amused publishers weekly this is a book not just for poets but for anyone interested in the human heart the inner life the breath exhaling a completion of an idea that will make you feel changed in some way this is a desert island book matthew dickman the accomplished poet is humorous and self deprecating in this collection of illuminating essays on poetry aesthetics and literature san francisco examiner over the course of fifteen years mary ruefle delivered a lecture every six months to a group of poetry graduate students collected here for the first time these lectures include poetry and the moon someone reading a book is a sign of order in the world and lectures i will never give intellectually virtuosic instructive and experiential madness rack and honey resists definition demanding instead an utter and utterly pleasurable immersion finalist for the 2012 national book critics circle award mary ruefle has published more than a dozen books of poetry prose and erasures she lives in vermont bringing together essays from neurodivergent and disabled writers and writers with chronic illnesses this collection explores the impact of these experiences and the struggle against such biases within the field of creative writing whilst neuro divergent and disabled writers publish world class poetry prose and drama that moves readers and wins awards they face many difficulties accessing these achievements difficulties which often go unnoticed unmentioned and underappreciated visibility insight alternative approaches and thorough research are all needed to create more inclusive writing environments this book confronts these issues head on calling for diversity in the creative writing field community and industry and more equitable spaces in adjacent arenas from academia to publishing broken into four sections this anthology focuses on creative writing programs classrooms the community and its people combining narrative research and practical contributions to the field to offer a mix of practical strategies personal and pedagogical interventions critiques and craft meditations that explore teaching transformation evolution embodied craft visibility belonging injustice otherness and views from the outside with essays and excerpts written by authors and educators from across seven countries who are each impacted by a wide range of disabilities including adhd autism blindness dyslexia dyspraxia stroke aphasia cerebral palsy bipolar fibromyalgia and rheumatoid arthritis this collection informs deconstructs and re imagines to reform and revolutionize normative structures within writing institutions and communities in touching the passion seeing late medieval altarpieces through the eyes of faith donna sadler explores the manner in which worshipers responded to the carved and polychromed retables adorning the altars of their parish churches framed by the symbolic death of christ re enacted during the mass the historical account of the passion on the retable situated christ s suffering and triumph over death in the present the dramatic gestures contemporary garb and wealth of anecdotal detail on the altarpiece invited the viewer s absorption in the narrative as in the imitatio christi the worshiper imaginatively projected himself into the story like a child before a dollhouse the five senses the sculptural medium the small scale and the rhetoric of memory foster this immersion fully revamped and expanded this second edition offers a complete introduction to the art and craft of writing poetry mapping out 38 foundational elements of poetry including image line point of view metaphor movement and music authors amorak huey and w todd kaneko use these elements as starting points for discussion questions and writing prompts the book guides readers through a range of poetic modes and styles such as o elegies and odes o found poems o aubades and nocturnes o documentary and protest poems o ars poetica o lyric and narrative poems o personas and portraits with a focus on contemporary poems the anthology features a truly diverse and global line up of poets and poems to illustrate the elements and craft discussed in the book featuring all new chapters on traditional poetic forms prosody writing poems that engage the current moment and the value and ethics of imitation this is the ultimate companion to studying and practicing the craft of poetry poems once in motion continue to move their readers and what an imaginative variety of poetic delights is offered here billy collins it would have pleased walt whitman that poet of urban motion to envision his words coursing by electrified rail through a diverse global city of 8 million souls since 1992 with the presentation of an excerpt from walt whitman s crossing brooklyn ferry the poetry in motion program co sponsored by mta arts design and the poetry society of america has brought more than 200 poems in whole or in part before the eyes of millions of subway and bus riders offering a moment of timelessness in the busy day the poems are by an eclectic mix of writers from sappho and sylvia plath to w h auden rita dove seamus heaney nikki giovanni patrick phillips and aracelis girmay each of the 100 poems gathered here has in sixteen lines or less the power to enliven the quotidian provide nourishment for the soul and enchant even the youngest among us marianne moore and the archives features new archival research to explore the work of a major american modernist poet providing innovative approaches to moore s career as it is documented in her archives in philadelphia this volume is also the first that draws upon the marianne moore digital archive mmda
